

Goose Point

Chinook Indian Nation hereditary leader Phillip Hawks, his sister Margaret Payne and their relative Mechele Johnson pose on the beach in 2005 at Goose Point in Bay Center, Washington. Goose Point was the site of an important village on Willapa Bay. Phillip was the last Chinook child to be born at the original village site, and he remembers much of its history and many of its residents. He continues to reside in Bay Center, Washington along with many of his relatives.
